

I'm a KLOVE listener in Albuquerque NM. I started listening in Yorktown VA. It is great to be able to travel the entire country and listen to the same Christian music station without having to buy satellite equipment and pay for it. My local station is 90.5 FM and the signal is rebroadcast using FM translator service. I am concerned that expansion of Low Power FM may drive KLOVE out of business, not just in Albuquerque, but across the country. The station is a great refuge from much of the garbage on the airwaves and our city and country would be much worse off without KLOVE. Many lives have been and will be changed for the better if KLOVE continues to operate.
